

Crisis Intervention Team Training

February 22 - 26, 2010

Crisis Intervention Teams (CIT) improve interactions between police officers and individuals suffering from mental illness. This FREE, specialized 35-hour CIT training session, approved by ILEA for continuing education credits, provides police officers with:

- Basic information about mental disorders
- Skills to recognize mental disorders and psychiatric crises/episodes
- Techniques to de-escalate a situation involving an individual experiencing a psychiatric crisis
- Information about the mental health services provided in the community and how to facilitate access to these services
- Better understanding of mental health consumers and their family members
